Homeschooling in Texas

Here is an overview of everything about getting started homeschooling in Texas! You'll be an expert after reading this article and gain a wealth of knowledge in Texas homeschool information!

Here's the facts on how to homeschool in Texas.

What's the law?

Texas is one of the best places to homeschool.

By best, we mean that Texans who homeschool don't have to jump through the hoops that some other states require—like taking yearly standardized testing, having parents evaluated by the state and getting specific curriculum approved.

The only things that the Texas law requires to legally homeschool are that:

1. The instruction must be bona fide (i.e. not a sham);
2. The curriculum must be in visual form (e.g. books, workbooks, video monitor);
3. The curriculum must include the basic subjects of
  1. reading
  2. spelling
  3. grammar
  4. mathematics
  5. and good citizenship.

Your child may also be taught in another family's home or you may use a tutor for instruction.
